

DAUGHTERS PAY TRIBUTE TO MRS. WILSON'S MEMORY

Her "Life Filled With All Dignity, Grace and Virtue That Could Be Crowded Into It."

PRESIDENT-GENERAL REPORTS

Recommends Raising of $5,000 for Window in Red Cross Building as Memorial to Women of War Between States.

SAYANNAH, GA., November 11.—Tribute was paid here today by the general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to the memory of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President.

Resolutions introduced by Mrs. James Britton, of Jefferson City, Mo., and unanimously adopted, authorized Mrs. Wilson as a model woman and as one to whom prominent position meant "not an exaltation of self, but a pure, genuine, useful and to help the greatest number."

The text of the resolutions follow in part: "If the lives most who think most, feel the noblest, acts the best, then Mrs. Woodrow Wilson lived more noble, more true, more just, more useful, more than that counted by years, for her life was filled with all the dignity, grace and virtue that could be crowded into it."

"Prominent position meant to her, not an exaltation of self, but a pure, genuine, useful and to help the greatest number."

"She had a heart for humanity in which dwelt all that was pure, genuine and holy. Absolute loyalty was chief among her characteristics; her old friends were never forgotten, and when she died, the first lady of the land, her home was always open to them as of old. Mrs. Wilson was a believer in the high destiny of womanhood, and taught her daughters that the true, beautiful and good was worth while."

"Mrs. Wilson entered into all the plans of her distinguished husband—to him she was a guiding star pointing to the high and holy."

"It has been said that Mrs. Woodrow Wilson gave her life for her country as surely as a soldier gives his on the field of battle, and as we, the Daughters of the Confederacy, honor the memory of those who served in those who fell in the service of their country, so we will enshrine her in our heart of hearts, the brightest jewel of Southern womanhood."

"Mrs. Wilson was born in Georgia, and she lived in Georgia, and she was not a member of the Daughters of the Confederacy, although eligible, her father having been a chaplain in the Confederate army."

Other resolutions adopted today were to the memory of Sumner A. Cunningham, of Nashville, Tenn., editor of the Confederate Veteran, and Mrs. C. Cunningham, also of Nashville, who was known as the "Mother of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

Adoption of the memorial resolutions was followed by the reading of the reports of the general officers. Mrs. Mary McLaughlin Stevens, the president, made her report at the morning session, in which she recommended the raising of $5,000 for a window to be placed in the new American Red Cross Building at Washington, which is planned as a memorial to women of the War Between the States.

The president-general also recommended the appointment of a committee on which North Carolina and Alabama shall have no representation, to determine definitely the desirability of the Confederate flag.

WILL CO-ORDINATE RELIEF

Wilson Decides to Appoint Central Committee for Relief Work.

WASHINGTON, November 11.—A central committee to take charge of relief work in the United States and coordinate with the international committee abroad will be designated by President Wilson as a result of a conference to-night between the President and Secretary Bryan at the White House.

The conference, which was held earlier in the day, and later Mr. Phillips sent a letter to the President containing a recommendation of American Ambassador Fager, in London, that a central committee be named to coordinate the work of various committees and organizations now engaged in relief work. It was understood that the German ambassador informed Mr. Bryan that there was no representation in the report that the German government plans to stop supplies going to the Belgians until they go to work.

BRINGS MESSAGE OF HOPE TO WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS

Miss Pankhurst, Militant Suffragette of England, Arouses Enthusiasm Among American Sisters.

MAKES STIRRING APPEAL

Tells Southerners That They Should Take Concentrated and Immediate Action to Gain the Ballot—Miss Johnston One of Speakers.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., November 11.—Miss Christabel Pankhurst, noted militant suffragette of England, aroused two large audiences to enthusiastic demonstrations by addresses here to-night at the closing session of the Southern States Woman Suffrage conference. Miss Pankhurst delivered a message of hope for the success of the woman suffrage cause in this country from the suffragettes of England, Southern women for concentrated and immediate action to gain the ballot.

The crowd that gathered at the local theatre to hear Miss Pankhurst exceeded the capacity of the playhouse, and an overflow meeting was held in a near-by hall, where the English militant also spoke.

Prior to the evening meetings, the business of the conference was conducted in the afternoon. Miss Pankhurst, of New Orleans, as president, and the selection of other officers. An invitation to hold the next annual conference in Memphis, Tenn., was extended by delegates from that city.

The selection of the next convention city was left to the executive board.

WOMEN MUST FIGHT THEIR OWN BATTLES. In her address to-night, Miss Pankhurst said:

"The growing industrialism of the South inevitably leads to more and more women seeking an independent living. Under this condition it is necessary, in order to maintain a good standard of wages, that women be able to fight their own battles. If women are underpaid, it is certain to have an effect in lowering men's wages. Men workers, for their own advancement, should help women get the vote, to enable them to fight for better conditions and proper laws."

"The speaker asserted that women are better qualified than men to decide the housing problems that confront big industrial centers, and argued they should be given the ballot to effect humanitarian reforms."

"But aside from domestic affairs," she asserted, "women are taking an increasing interest in international affairs. The time has passed when men have a monopoly in understanding industrial questions. The war is an instance in point. Woman's experience and knowledge shows it neither safe nor just to deprive them of the vote, because they have to bear the hardships of a war which they had no part in bringing on and which they had no power to avert."

BENDING THEIR EFFORTS. "While you women are fighting for suffrage here, the suffragettes of England are bending their efforts to aid their country in the terrible war. We suffragettes are patriotic, but we also believe our country is right."

"Women suffrage now is an established principle so far as this country is concerned," declared Miss Pankhurst in closing. "With the western states already under the vote, the suffrage banner, it is impossible to have any force to prevent the cause spreading throughout the entire country. You have two methods for gaining the ballot—through amendment of the State and the Federal Constitution. I understand the South prefers the State's rights plan on lines suited to local needs."

"But I wish to appeal to you Southern women to get the vote quickly for if the Southern States do not grant the ballot to women through State action, they will find that suffrage will be granted them through a Federal amendment, and the Southern States will be obliged to accept it."

Miss Mary Johnston, of Richmond, briefly discussed the progress of the suffrage movement in the South, and urged the need of vigorous action by the women of the country to follow up the victories gained in the recent election.

Many of the delegates to the Southern conference departed late to-night for Nashville, to attend the annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, which opens here to-morrow.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES. LEFT TO DIE IN COMMITTEE. At the final business session late to-day the conference allowed to die in committee the proposed declaration of principles. Two paragraphs of this declaration—one affirming that suffrage is a state's rights question, and the other calling upon the Democratic party to include a woman suffrage plank in its next national platform—aroused spirited opposition.

Officers elected by the conference, in addition to Miss Gordon, include: Vice-president at large, Miss Laura Clay, Lexington, Ky.

Secretary, Mrs. John B. Parker, New Orleans, and Mrs. Nellie N. Somerville, Greenville, Miss.

Treasurer, Mrs. H. B. Bartlett, Louisville, Ky.

Editors, Mrs. C. Elliott, Maryland, and Mrs. M. P. Montague, Tennessee.

Among State vice-presidents were: North Carolina, Mrs. Archibald Henderson; South Carolina, Mrs. M. T. Coleman; Asheville, Virginia, John H. Lewis; Honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. O. H. Belmont, New York; Miss Mary Johnston, Virginia; Mrs. Helen Gardner, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Talbot leaves to-morrow.

DETERMINED TO REMAIN TEMPT TO MUST DR. ANNA SHAW

Suffragists From Western and Central States Plan Her Defeat as President.

TWO BIG FIGHTS EXPECTED

National Association Is Divided as to Whether It Shall Support Shafer's Amendment to Federal Constitution or Bristow-Mondell Plan.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NASHVILLE, TENN., November 11.—Two big fights in the National American Woman Suffrage Association, located here as delegates gathered here for the forty-sixth annual convention of that organization.

One is the determination of the delegates from many of the Western States to oust Dr. Anna Howard Shaw from the presidency, which she has held for ten years.

The other is the question of whether the association should support the Shafer amendment to the Federal Constitution or the Bristow-Mondell amendment.

The Illinois delegation, headed by Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association, may be the deciding factor in both struggles. All the members are pledged to support the candidate against Dr. Shaw, and they will all work and vote for the Shafer amendment.

MRS. TROUT DOES NOT WANT NOMINATION.

Some of the Illinois women may nominate Mrs. Trout for Dr. Shaw's place, although Mrs. Trout herself says she would not, under any circumstances, accept the nomination. They hope they can change her decision, however, in case they fail, Miss Anne Martin, of Nevada, may be put in the field, and should that situation develop a deadlock, Mrs. DeSha Breckinridge, of Kentucky, is likely to be put forward as a compromise candidate.

The Shafer amendment is a straight, unqualified amendment to the Federal Constitution eliminating sex as a qualification for suffrage, and needing only a majority of the States. Legislatures after it passes both houses of Congress by a three-fourths vote.

The Bristow-Mondell proposition is the one permitting the Federal Constitution to be amended by a referendum petition of 8 per cent of the legal voters of any State, the question of permitting women to vote, to be referred to the State, and if a majority of the women voting, they shall then receive full suffrage in that State, any existing law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Supporters of the Shafer amendment are depending for success largely upon the attitude of the women of the South. They are said to be strongly against submitting the amendment to their right to vote to the negroes, as the Bristow-Mondell proposal would entail.

Dr. Shaw and the Eastern contingent favor the Shafer amendment, but Westerners say it will take as much work at Washington to get that amendment passed as it will the Bristow-Mondell plan, and that when it is passed they have nothing but the right to appeal to the whole mass of the voters. They figure they can swing the vote to-night, but that when it comes to the ratification of the Bristow-Mondell amendment, more work than they can educate the whole people.

NO RECOMMENDATIONS ARE FORMULATED.

At an informal conference this morning, supposed to be a meeting of the executive council, but attended by less than a score of delegates, and dominated by Dr. Shaw's followers, both propositions were approved. The executive council took the propositions up again to-night, but no related recommendations to the whole association.

Among the prominent suffragettes, the "Bikini" Mrs. Rosalie Jones, president of Bryn Mawr College, Mrs. Ernest Thompson-Seton, Connecticut; Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, editor of the "Common Sense," the official organ of the national association; Mrs. Mond Brown, president of the New York State Association, and Mrs. Glen-dower Evans, of Boston, interested in the reforms.

This afternoon the delegates were entertained by an auto trip to "The Hermitage," former home of President Andrew Jackson, where an old-fashioned Southern barbecue dinner was served.

The first formal sessions of the convention will be held to-morrow.

SUPREME COURT DECIDES CELEBRATED CASE

Lower Tribunal Sustained, and Croon Remains Head of Insane Asylum.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., November 11.—The Supreme Court delivered opinions this afternoon in thirteen cases, and the special note was that of R. H. The Supreme Court sustains the ruling of Judge Bond, in the Superior Court, in favor of Croon as the appointee of Governor Craig, duly confirmed by the Senate. Salisbury had been appointed by Governor Kitchen without Senate confirmation, and the term resigned by J. A. Biggs, that the appointee held was to 1917. The full list follows:

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John M. Robinson, rector of the church, in the presence of a large gathering of family connections and friends of the young couple. The bride is the daughter of West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and other States.

A Kidney Remedy Advertisement Brought Great Happiness.

I take pleasure in stating that I have used Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, that I was greatly benefited by the same and have used it in my family, and had a son; when quite young he suffered from bladder or kidney affliction. I called in my physician, he attended him, but did him no good. Almost by accident I noticed an advertisement about the curative properties of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. I procured a bottle and gave it to him according to directions. I cured him of what we thought was almost impossible, and the same with others stony family. I have such strong faith in Swamp-Root that I have never done without it in my family since the wonderful cure of my son as well as myself. I recommend it to all who suffer from kidney or bladder troubles, and I am led to believe that it is one of the best medicines for the purpose for which it is used that has ever been discovered.

TORTURE OF CONSCIENCE DRIVES HIM TO CONFESS

Murderer of Farmer and Wife in Their Lonely Home Reveals Story of Crime.

IMPPLICATES ACCOMPLICES

Feels Better Since "Soul Is Cleared." Mystery Is Stripped From Crime Which Had Puzzled Authorities Since Christmas Holidays of 1912.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., November 11.—The death of George Vosburg and his wife in their lonely farmhouse near Pine Plains during the Christmas holidays of 1912, was stripped of its mystery to-day by the alleged confession of John Wood, a farmer. Wood told the district attorney and the sheriff that he, with three companions, slew the couple with an ax, robbed them of $300, and then burned down the farmhouse. The charred bodies were found in the cellar.

The district attorney placed Wood under arrest, and announced that he had confessed the crime, because he could no longer endure the torture of conscience and wished "to clear his soul."

Upon information said to have been furnished by Wood, Jessie Pell, Orrin Smith and Oscar Post, his alleged accomplices, were arrested near the village of Pine Plains later in the day.

MURDERER TELLS HIS GRUESOME STORY.

Wood was quoted as telling the following story of the crime: "Post started the whole thing. Vosburg had a chattel mortgage for about $50 on his furniture and was going to foreclose. Post got me, Pells and Smith, and we went in the night to Vosburg's house, first securing an ax from the woodhouse on the farm of Jacob Hinsdale, where I worked."

"Post knocked at the door and Vosburg opened it. Post demanded the mortgage, and Vosburg refused to give it up. Then he ordered us to 'fix' it. We fired once when Post swung the ax on his skull. I guess it killed Vosburg instantly. Post dropped the ax, and entered the house. We followed in cash. Mrs. Vosburg came out of her room. Pells caught up the ax and hit her. She ran back into the house and took all the silverware. We found $800 in cash, and took that, too. Then we opened all the doors and poured kerosene around and set fire to the house. We buried the silver in the woods near-by. Mrs. Mary Mosey, of Culpeper, sang 'O Perfect Day' as the guests were assembling."

The bride entered the church with her brother, William Smith, by whom she was given in marriage. She was the daughter of John Smith, a well-known farmer.

Bennett-Smith.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CULPEPER, VA., November 11.—A beautiful marriage took place this afternoon in New Sales Baptist Church, this county, when Miss Laura Josephine, the daughter of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Smith, was married to William Frances Bennett. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Hansborough, of Orange, and Miss Gertrude Durant rendered the wedding marches.

Miss Mary Mosey, of Culpeper, sang "O Perfect Day" as the guests were assembling.

The bride entered the church with her brother, William Smith, by whom she was given in marriage. She was the daughter of John Smith, a well-known farmer.

Experience is or should be our best teacher. Women who have obeyed the highest and noblest of all sacrifices, the struggle for the life of others, should have a more powerful influence than those who theorize from observation.

At any rate when a prospective grandmother urges her "Mother's Friend," there is a good reason to believe it the right kind of advice.

Its purpose is to furnish plain to the muscles, to take away the strain on the cords and ligaments, to relieve the tension of nerves and tendons so as to provoke or aggravate nausea, morning sickness, twitches of the limbs and so on. It is applied externally.

Although in the nature of things, a woman would use "Mother's Friend" rarely, yet so effective has it been found that this splendid remedy is on sale in most drug stores throughout the United States. It has been prepared by Bradford's Regulator Co., 306 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and advertised by us for over twenty years. Ask at the drug store for a bottle of "Mother's Friend."
